Flood Isolates Laredo

20 Are Known Dead At Mexican Town Of Piedras Negras; 1,500 Leave Homes

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—The Rio Grande's mightiest flood isolated Laredo today, and 100 miles upstream 20 were known dead at the Mexican town of Piedras Negras.

The Rio Grande drove at least another 500 persons from their homes here, making a total of some 1,500 or more evacuated.

Dr. Rodrigo Andalón, chief of the hospital at Piedras Negras, said there were 20 known dead there. Earlier, there had been rumors of 200 to 1,000 drowned in the Mexican town of about 35,000 across the border from Eagle Pass, Tex.

The Rio Grande's flood waters surged down two creeks and split isolated Laredo in half, separating the old town and business district from a section of newer homes and Laredo Air Force Base.

Highways and railroad tracks north of Laredo were under water, and it was impossible to reach airfields because of high water.

Laredo had no drinking water and a mounting sanitation problem.

Both the railroad and automobile bridges between Laredo and its sister city, Nuevo Laredo, Mex., were believed torn out—but the water was so deep nobody could tell for sure what the damage was.

Nuevo Laredo, which is on lower ground, lay seemingly deserted, with water standing in the streets six or eight blocks in from the river. About 100 persons were seen being lifted from rooftops by helicopters. Each city has about 60,000 residents.

Nearly 100 miles north of Del Rio at Ozona, Tex., the latest count showed 16 persons dead and one still missing.

Another victim reported today was Pvt. Roy A. Christianson, drowned when a bridge over the Pecos river west of Del Rio went out.

Six more persons were reported missing at Pandale, south of Ozona.

At Eagle Pass, Tex., across the border from Piedras Negras, highway patrolman R. B. Goodrum said there were hundreds of rumors about the situation in the Mexican town of about 35,000.

He said rumors of the dead ranged from 2,000 to 1,000—"but I can't confirm any of them."

"We just don't know. We haven't been able to get over there yet," he said, "and I don't know when we can make it."

Of the possible loss of life at Piedras Negras, a state highway patrolman indicated it might reach into the hundreds.

"But we don't have any definite number," the patrolman said, adding:

"I'm sure there were a lot of lives lost. They are in awful bad shape over there. Water went over the roofs of two-story houses."

He said he believed reports of 500 dead in the little Mexican city would be "grossly exaggerated."

"However," he said, "there are signs that a terrible lot of people took an awful beating."

As the river returned to its banks at Eagle Pass and its sister city of Piedras Negras, the big fight against the floodwaters centered at Laredo and Nuevo Laredo.

Mayor Joe Martin Jr. of Laredo said a 38-foot level had been reached shortly after 1 a. m. He said the International Bridge, a vital link on the Pan-American Highway to Mexico City, was still intact. It was reported under about 18 feet of water.

"We believe we have everything under control," Martin said. "We have evacuated or changed the sleeping locations of about 1,000 people."

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; cooler tonight, high this Thursday in the 90s; low tonight in the 60s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 69; 95 at 1 p. m. and 96 at 2 p. m.

One year ago today here high 97, low 74; two years ago 98, 73; three years ago 75, 62, rainfall .35 inch.

Sedalians Among Millions Seeing Eclipse After Clouds Blow Away

By JOE J. KANE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Millions of Americans early this morning saw one of nature's greatest spectacles of the skies—a total eclipse of the sun.

Early risers in perfect weather turned out in everything from pajamas and dressing gowns to going-to-work clothes.

Roof tops and high spots throughout the eclipse areas were crowded with persons armed with a weird assortment of eye protector.

Although the total eclipse covered only a 70-mile wide strip through parts of five states as it headed for India, partial eclipses were seen in most sections of the nation except in the West.

Following advance warnings about watching the eclipse with the naked eye, one St. Paul family of four watched through a basement window that had been completely smoked.

Others used welder's helmets, strips of exposed and developed film and sun glasses. At total, the spectacle could be viewed with the naked eye.

Crowds stood awed during the 76 seconds of totality.

Many Sedalians, arising before 5 a. m. saw the beginning of the eclipse before a cloud obstructed the view during the peak of the phenomenon.

About 5:10 a. m. the clouds moved away and left a perfect view of the latter portions of the time the shadow was across the sun's surface.

Some portions of the eclipse could be seen only by scientists and others using powerful telescopes.

One of the scientists who watched the celestial show from a plane 20,000 feet over the Twin Cities area of Minneapolis and St. Paul reported the sun bleached a fiery flash spectrum just before totality was reached.

Hotel lobbies in Minneapolis and St. Paul, in the total eclipse strip, were alive with activity long before the solar drama began at 4:27 a. m. (SCT). Chartered buses and streams of cars carried spectators to vantage points. Some groups chartered planes.

A definite shadow path was visible from planes and observers said a pink hue lit the horizon on both sides of the totality strip.

Dr. Donald Menzel, director of the Harvard Observatory, was one of those watching from a plane over Minneapolis. He described the eclipse as "the most beautiful" of the four he has seen. Dr. Harold Urey of the University of Chicago's Institute of Nuclear Studies, said it was "a grand sight."

Television audiences across the country watched the total eclipse on programs fed to networks by Twin Cities stations. Television films made from planes were seen later in the day.

Weather conditions were greatly varied around the country where the eclipse was partial. Skies were clear in Kansas City, at Detroit, clear in Chicago and overcast in Rhode Island. There was drizzle at Pittsburgh at the time of partial eclipse and rain fell throughout Connecticut.

At Cleveland, the eclipse mounted to two dawns because of

Guat'mala Fighting Is Over

New Regime Calls On All Civilians To Surrender Arms, Plans Peace Talks

GUATEMALA (AP)—The fighting was over today in Guatemala's 12-day civil war, and the U.S. embassy hailed the outcome as a victory over communism.

The new military regime called on all civilians to surrender any arms in their possession. It prepared for talks with the anti-Communist insurgents on the future course of this Central American republic.

Col. Carlos Castillo Armas' rebel forces announced that a cease fire would remain in effect pending formal armistice negotiations.

Former President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman was reported to have taken refuge in the Mexican embassy here, along with Communist and leftwing leaders who had supported his regime.

Col. Elfigio Monzon, the leader of the new junta, called on all persons to surrender their arms or face severe punishment. The Arbenz government was said to have distributed arms to farmers and workers prior to his ouster on Sunday.

Monzon and Castillo Armas were expected to meet today or tomorrow in neighboring El Salvador to work out details of both the armistice and a new government.

Diplomats here in the Guatemalan capital believed the two anti-Communist both would join in still another new governing junta. The general feeling was that Castillo Armas could dictate his own terms.

Monzon's four-man junta, which took over in the capital before dawn yesterday, already had launched a roundup of Communists. Arbenz and most of the top Reds escaped for the moment, taking refuge in the Mexican Embassy.

Many lesser leftists and fellow travelers were among the first to denounce communism and cheer, "We have won."

The rebel's rear headquarters said yesterday Castillo Armas was ready to discuss truce terms, but insisted on assurance that the anti-Communist drive would continue.

The Vatican's nuncio to Guatemala, Msgr. Gennaro Verolino, agreed to be the third party at the armistice conference.

Though no formal cease-fire had been proclaimed from either side, all fighting was believed to have halted. Latest information in the capital said the rebels held the state of Zacapa and Chiquimala, as well as Puerto Barrios, the country's chief port on the Caribbean.

It was generally conceded that the army's resistance to Castillo's forces had collapsed.

Miss Joyce Eileen Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard W. Starr, Los Angeles, Calif., became the bride of Mr. James William Frank, son of Mrs. Laura E. Frank, Green Ridge, and the late Mr. John F. Frank, Saturday, June 12, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with the Rev. James Richard Chase performing the ceremony at the altar of the Calvary Church in Hollywood.

The bride's waltz length dress was of white silk shantung and lace. Her tiara of pearls and iridescent sequins held in place net taken from her mother's wedding veil.

Mrs. Beverly Dupree as matron of honor and Miss Jo Ann Starr, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore dresses of pink nylon and taffeta and carried pink roses tied with pale green satin ribbon. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Frieda Myers, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Patricia Walters, wore pale green nylon and taffeta gowns and carried pink roses tied with pale pink satin ribbon.

Mr. Warren Myers, Kansas City, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Ushers were Mr. Byron Myers, Mr. Donald Dupree and Mr. Earl Seddon.

The mother of the bride wore a blue silk suit, adrian hat and orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a lavender nylon dress and orchid hat. The reception was held in the garden at the bride's home. Centering the bride's table was the wedding cake topped with a miniature china figurines of a bride and bridegroom in a replica of wedding attire. A figure dressed in a gown made from the wedding gown of the mother of the bride stood at the side.

The couple will reside in Mission Beach, near San Diego.

CUSTOM NOTE: Twin-Turbine Dynaflo and Safety Power Steering are standard equipment on every Buick Roadmaster at no extra cost.

It makes you feel like the man you are

YOU must know, of course, that a fine car is more than merely a means of fine travel.

It is, as the psychologists tell us, an extension of a man's own personality.

It reflects what you feel, what you like, what you are.

So we ask you to take the wheel of a Buick ROADMASTER like the one shown here—for it is, we have found, the automobile chosen more and more by those who are definitely moving ahead in the world.

You will find it a car that fairly breathes success.

From its size and its breadth and the magnificent modernity of its styling, you know it is a car of custom stature—and so does the watching world.

The wondrous windshield is a pride in itself. You don't just see the view—you command it.

You will find it, too, a car of luxurious obedience.

From the moment you ease your foot down on the pedal, you take immediate mastery of the road and of distance.

And you know it—in the silken whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo, the might of Buick's greatest horsepower, the magic cushioning of coil springs on all four wheels, the exhilarating ease of Buick Safety Power Steering at your hand.

But with all this, you buy with prudence when you buy a ROADMASTER.

For—though it is, and looks, custom production—it sells for the lowest price-per-pound in the fine-car field. And so wise an investment makes you feel even more like the man you are.

Drop in, or phone us this week, and we'll gladly arrange a demonstration.

BUICK SALES ARE SOARING!

Latest figures for the first four months of 1954 show Buick now outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three." Better look into Buick if you want the beauty and the buy of the year.

Telephone Talks May Put Off Strike Thursday

NEW YORK (AP)—A telephone equipment installers union which has set Thursday as the deadline for a strike in 44 states reported "some progress" today in talks with Western Electric Co.

The old contract between District 10 of the CIO Communications Workers and Western Electric, which is the manufacturing arm of the Bell telephone system, ran out on May 2. The parties are meeting here in an attempt to agree on a new contract.

Joseph E. Dunne, district director of the union, said after today's session "we are closer together on a couple of points." He did not say what the points were, but indicated they were in areas in which the union previously had charged the company with seeking to force "retrogressive" items into the contract.

There was no immediate company comment.

Dunne said there was no closing of the gap on wages. The union has rejected a company offer of a four to six cents an hour increase, he said, while the union is asking six to eight cents. The present average hourly rate is $1.86 an hour.

If the strike is called, it would affect telephone operations in all states but Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Coal seams are the buried remains of massive jungles which grew millions of years ago.

Fourth in Series on City Government— Counselor Is Legal Officer He Draws Ordinances, Codes Under Instructions Of the Council, Serves on Many Legal Matters and in Courts

City Counselor William F. Brown recently prepared a statement on the duties of his office and read it at a special meeting of the city administration held at the City Hall.

The report of Mr. Brown, along with the reports of the other officials of the city, is being published in order to acquaint the people with the workings and functions of city government. Brown's report follows:

"The office of city counselor is charged with the duty of drafting and preparing all resolutions and ordinances to be acted upon by the City Council. These include, but are not limited to, the ordinances creating special sewer districts and street improvements. The ordinances in this category in order to result in a valid tax bill, which is also drafted by the city counselor, must follow in regular order and sequence and require a great deal of time and attention.

"This duty extends to drafting ordinances which repeal or modify existing ordinances and to the drafting of bills, which may, and often do develop into lengthy ordinances which we sometimes refer

Congress Sends Ike Bill to Extend Trade Act for Another Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has sent President Eisenhower a bill to continue the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for another year. The 20-year-old law died June 12. Congressional action on the bill was finished yesterday. Most of the authority for negotiation of new trade pacts has been used up, but the law still would permit the working out of a trade agreement with Japan.

Robinsons Will Give Marriage New Chance

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Edward G. Robinson Jr., 21, and his wife Frances, 24, have decided to give their 2½-year marriage another chance.

They kissed yesterday after a reconciliation session with Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle just before a scheduled support hearing on her separate maintenance action.

Theda Bara Undergoes Emergency Surgery, Lies Gravely Ill

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Theda Bara, the heavy-lidded siren of the silent screen, is reported gravely ill in a hospital after surgery.

The Los Angeles Times says she underwent an emergency operation yesterday for appendicitis and complications.

To most of the present generation she is only a name, dimly associated with the fantastic days when movies couldn't talk. But to those who remember the films of 30 or 35 years ago Theda Bara is the original vamp—the slinky siren of "A Fool There Was," entwined in satin and long strings of beads.

She made 40 pictures between 1919 and 1923. But since 1921 she has been chiefly Mrs. Charles J. Brabin, a director's wife who gave up her career many years ago.

Her age is a carefully guarded secret, but 10 years ago the columnists were saying she had passed 50.

Missouri Federation Of Labor Adopts New Work Week Legislation

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A resolution urging Congress to establish a 35-hour work week with a $1.25 minimum hourly wage was adopted here yesterday by the Missouri Federation of Labor.

The resolution approved at the federation's annual convention stated "the constant increase of labor-saving devices—increase of unemployment to a state where the entire economy is upset."

Another resolution approved by the 500 delegates urged an increase in weekly jobless benefit payments from $25 to $35. The state Legislature was also asked to reject any "union-busting 'right to work' legislation."

Three-Car Collision Injures Linn Editor

LINN, Mo., (AP)—A three-car collision two miles west of here yesterday resulted in serious injuries of Bill Zevely, 54, editor of the Linn Unaffiliated Democrat. Zevely suffered a compound fracture of his left elbow and possible internal injuries when a truck and then crashed into Zevely's sideswiped a car in front of his vehicle.

Probers Will Get Report On Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators who investigated the McCarthy-Army row were promised a report today on why two employees of the Senate Investigations subcommittee haven't been cleared to handle secret Defense Department documents.

The question was whether the two staff members, who have not been publicly named, were refused security clearance or whether a check on them, asked over a year ago, had not been completed.

Sen. Mundt (R-SED), in calling today's closed-door meeting, said he had received a reply to the question from the Pentagon but he declined to disclose it in advance of laying it before his colleagues.

He said he also expected the subcommittee to decide what to do with a report received from the Army, in an envelope stamped confidential, on the case of former Maj. Irving Peress, a New York City dentist. Mundt says he has not opened it.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), the regular subcommittee chairman, has called "a Fifth Amendment Communist" and has demanded to know who in the Army was responsible for his honorable discharge last February.

Questions about whether staff employees had clearance entitling them to access to any secret documents in the subcommittee's files were raised near the end of the televised probe of the charges exchanged by McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides.

Mundt, who replaced McCarthy as chairman of the subcommittee for the duration of that inquiry, subsequently received a report from the Defense Department which, he said, showed "no clearance" for two members of the staff. Mundt then asked the Pentagon for an explanation.

McCarthy told newsmen just before leaving for a vacation after the 36-day investigation of his controversy with top Army officials that he knew of no staff members "refused" clearance by the military. He also said he knew nothing to raise doubts about the loyalty of any of them.

McCarthy's office aides said he might return to the capital today, but Mundt said he had not invited the Wisconsin senator to the subcommittee meeting.

Civil Service Jobs Open at Panama Canal

The Panama Canal Company, the corporate agency of the United States that operates the Panama Canal, has announced that electrical engineers are urgently needed to begin the electric power conversion program in the Canal Zone.

The power system, which supplies power to all installations within the Canal Zone, will be converted from 25-cycle to 60-cycle current. The jobs to be filled pay from $5,256 to $10,450 a year. A mechanical engineer is also needed for this work at $7,425 a year.

Persons appointed should be available for duty on or about July 1, 1954. Appointments will be for a period of three years which may be extended as the progress of the program indicates.

The commission has also announced examinations for city planners, paying $4,205 to $10,800 a year, foreign language information specialists, paying $4,205 to $7,040 a year, and patent advisers, paying $4,205 to $7,040 a year.

Further information may be obtained from W. E. Botts, local secretary, at the Sedalia post office.

Chinese records indicate that examinations for the selection of officers for public service were given in that country as early as 115 B. C.

Premier Chou Back to China After Travels

HONG KONG (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai returned to Communist China today after attending the Geneva conference on Asia and meeting with top officials in India and Burma.

The Red leader's plane stopped for an hour at this British crown colony for refueling before flying on to Canton and Peiping.

Concluding their Rangoon talks, Chou and Burmese Premier U Nu issued a joint communique last night pledging to "strive their utmost for promotion of peace."

They expressed hope, particularly, that peace can be restored satisfactorily in Indochina.

The communique also announced that Burmese-Chinese relations would be guided by the same principles agreed upon by Red China and India to cover their relations on Tibet and reiterated by Chou and Indian Prime Minister Nehru at the end of their weekend conference in New Delhi.

These, the communique said, are "mutual respect for each other's territorial integrity and sovereignty, nonaggression, noninterference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit and peaceful co-existence."

Western observers have viewed Chou's visits to India and Burma as part of a campaign to draw south Asian neutrals into the Peiping orbit under the pretext of uniting against "colonialism."

Former Top Tax Collector Evaded Taxes

NEW YORK — Joseph D. Nunan Jr., once the nation's top tax collector, has been found guilty of income tax evasion.

A Brooklyn federal court jury convicted the former commissioner of internal revenue yesterday on all five counts of an indictment charging him with evading payment of $91,086 for the years 1946 through 1950.

The 55-year-old Nunan faces a possible total sentence of 25 years in jail and a $50,000 fine. He was continued in $1,500 bail pending sentencing July 22.

Federal Judge Walter Bruchhausen told the jury of seven women and five men the verdict was "justified by the evidence."

Nunan, an appointee of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, served as the nation's No. 1 tax collector from 1944 to 1947, when he resigned to return to the private practice of law.

The indictment charged him with reporting income of $416,144 for 1946-1950, when it actually was $543,396, when he should have paid $291,323, the government said.

The defense contended the money on which he was accused of failing to pay taxes was inherited by his wife and was not subject to tax.

Nunan claimed he withdrew his assets of $170,000 from the bank in 1933 and kept the money in tin boxes, banking it again in 1940.

Testifying in his own behalf in the trial, he said he became tax collector for the Brooklyn district "through the fortunes of politics."

"As collector I was primarily an administrator, not particularly an expert on tax laws," he said. "Washington liked the way I ran my office and made me U. S. commissioner."

The 16-day trial was highlighted by the testimony of gambler Frank Erickson and James P. Finnegan, former tax collector at St. Louis and a pal of former President Harry S. Truman. Finnegan is now serving a sentence for misconduct in office.

Erickson testified he lost a $1,800 bet to Nunan that Truman would not be re-elected President in 1948. He said he gave Nunan, who was backing Truman, odds of 9 to 1.

Nunan claimed he did not report the winning of his tax return because of the year balanced it off.

Finnegan, who testified Nunan once gave him $1,000 in cash for a new station wagon and paid the balance of $408.23 by check, said of himself and Nunan, "We were close friends."

Nunan was indicted on the tax evasion charge Dec. 2, 1952, and a week later pleaded not guilty. The indictment stemmed from an investigation by a special federal grand jury.

A charge of perjury, which resulted from the grand jury inquiry, is still pending against Nunan.

Leo Eickhoff Jr. Wins Law Student Association Award

Leo Eickhoff Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Eickhoff, 705 West Fifth, has received the Law Student Association award at the University of Missouri, which goes to the highest ranking student at the end of his first year of law school.

Eickhoff tied for first place with Larry McCullen and their names will be placed on the plaque given by the Law Student Association, the plaque being displayed in the corridor of Tate Hall. There were 47 full-time male students in the law school.

Ever since he was a small boy, Leo Jr. has wanted to study law. It was then that he went to Cole Camp to visit his uncle, C. P. Camp, who is an attorney, and a former member of the Missouri Legislature. Even then he liked to read the law books he found in his uncle's office and his regard for law has never changed. He received his bachelor of arts degree in political science on June 12, was cited as a distinguished military student, and was on the dean's honor roll. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity, Scabbard and Blade Military Society, Student Union Association, Student Government Association, the Athenian Society and is president of the Young Republican Club of Christian, Stephens and university students.

Would Hear Oppenheimer Appeal Motion

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said today the government will entertain an appeal by J. Robert Oppenheimer if the atomic pioneer decides to try for reversal of the 4-1 vote refusing him security clearance.

The Atomic Energy Commission yesterday found that Oppenheimer is unfit to handle America's nuclear secrets because of "defects of character" and "dangerous associations." That decision closed out a long and wordy legal battle involving the 50-year-old physicist.

Eisenhower, on whose orders the security clearance was suspended last December, refused at his news conference today to comment on the AEC decision.

But if Dr. Oppenheimer wants to appeal, the appeal of course will be considered, the President said.

And if that course is taken, Eisenhower said he would go to the attorney general to find out what his prerogatives and responsibilities are in the matter.

The President said he has not studied the AEC findings, having merely read about them in the papers, but he added that they were made under normal procedures by men whom he trusts.

He declined to answer a question whether he felt the country "was safer and more secure now that Oppenheimer is no longer working for us."

Such a question, the President said, should be addressed to the AEC.

Neither Oppenheimer nor his attorneys have said what steps, if any, they now contemplate.

The physicist appealed after his security clearance was suspended six months ago. The AEC then set up a special security panel to consider the case. This panel heard 38 witnesses, including Oppenheimer, and on May 27 voted 2-1 against him.

Oppenheimer, in New York last night after the commission reported its decision upholding the board's ruling, had no direct comment on the majority report.

But he voiced confidence in the will of America's scientists to "work faithfully to preserve and strengthen this country." And he praised Dr. Henry D. Smyth, the only commissioner to recommend reinstatement of his security clearance, as having rendered a "fair and considered statement."

The majority report was signed by AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and Commissioners Eugene W. Zuckert and Joseph Campbell, both of whom appended statements of their own.

Commissioner Thomas E. Murray, agreeing with them that Oppenheimer should be denied access to secrets, wrote a separate opinion which said: "Dr. Oppenheimer was disloyal" in the sense that he disregarded security regulations.

Hears Data On Apartment Deal in Va.

WASHINGTON — Senate probers of housing scandals were told today that three apartment buildings went on the payroll of a building corporation at $20,000 a year each although the newly formed corporation had assets which totaled only $6,000.

That was on June 2, 1949. The $6,000 was a loan from Investors Diversified Services of Minneapolis. Two weeks later the project sponsors signed a contract with Investors Diversified for loans totalling $13,846,000 insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

The project is known as the Shirley-Duke, in Alexandria, Va. It was built under an expired post-war program and reaped a windfall profit of more than two million dollars. This represented the difference between the government-guaranteed loan and actual construction costs.

Sen. Robertson (D-Va.), a member of the investigating Senate Banking Committee, asked principals in this case, who were on the stand under oath, who was "cheated" in this and similar lush deals.

Carl Budwesky of Wilmington, Del., attorney for the builders, said: "I don't think anybody has been cheated, sir. I think it is a question of who got the money."

The three corporation officers who went on the payroll were Herman W. Hutman, Early J. Preston and Bryan Gordon Jr., all of this area. Later, according to official government records, they made these respective "windfalls" out of the deal: $607,650; $400,656 and $522,483.

The Banking Committee is trying to get to the bottom of financial manipulations by some builders who are estimated by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), committee chairman, to have made up to half a billion dollars in windfall profits.

Investors Diversified is now controlled by Robert R. Young's Allegheny Corp. but John W. McCarrin, attorney for Investors Diversified, said the controlling interest had been obtained until April 27, 1949, some time after preliminary negotiations had begun with the sponsors in the Shirley-Duke deal.

Land on which the project was built was bought for $178,000, Budwesky said, all of which was paid out of proceeds of a preliminary loan from Investors Diversified. The project was built by six separate corporations, each with a total capital of $1,000.

Committee counsel William Simon asked Budwesky: "Was there any other capital ever put in?"

Budwesky said "nothing" other than "what they borrowed."

Investors Diversified, McKenna testified yesterday, netted just under one million dollars in the deal, not counting interest payments.

Citizens' Group Meets Tuesday; Board Is Named

The Citizens Committee for Civic Improvement met in the assembly room of the Court House, Tuesday evening, June 29 with Dr. J. W. Boger, president, stating: "The purposes of this organization are to promote the general welfare of the City of Sedalia."

He added: "One person alone is unable to accomplish this goal. However, with the united action of all good citizens, the continued growth and prosperity of Sedalia can be insured. This group must be positive in action, non-political in purpose. We are not against anyone nor any other organization. We want and demand good government, value received for our tax-dollar, and a fair shake for every citizen in Sedalia."

"We will strive to cooperate with every duly elected official, honestly trying to do his duty, and pledge our support both individually and collectively to any official acting in good faith, towards the development of good government and prosperity for Sedalia."

Chairman Boger at this time appointed the following executive board for the purpose of setting up organizational plans: Melvin Jones, chairman; Rev. Warren Neal, Mrs. Herbert Seifert, Gilbert Jones, Oscar Lawson, John Martin and Mrs. James McNeill.

The next meeting will be called by this executive board for ratification of plans and functions.

Winnie Meets Canadians At Ottawa

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Churchill meets today with Canadian government leaders to describe his Washington conferences and to explain disagreements over policy between Britain and the United States.

Any policy differences between the two major Western allies are of supreme importance to Canada.

For while this country is a member of the British Commonwealth and strongly tied to Britain in many ways, it also is powerfully influenced by the pull of American policy. Hence Canadians hope at all costs to avoid a situation which might force them to choose between widely divergent British and American policies.

Perhaps recognizing this, Churchill said yesterday, "Canada is the master link in Anglo-American unity."

He made the statement as he landed at a military airport in Ottawa, coming from Washington.

The capital gave him a 19-gun salute and full honors at the airport and in front of the hotel where he spent the night. He looked tired but smiled and flashed his V gesture.

On the whole, Churchill will probably find considerable Canadian support for the positions he took in Washington.

Canadians say their government would not favor a Southeast Asian counterpart of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — at least now — because they do not feel Canada can undertake any more military commitments. Canadian troops are serving both in Korea and in Germany.

On the question of recognizing Red China, too, Canadian opinion, as described by officials in Ottawa, runs closer to the London line than to Washington's.

Canadian officials, like the British, tend to take the view that the Communists are in fact in control of China, governing it now, and likely to stay for the foreseeable future. Hence they generally believe the Red regime should be recognized officially.

Improvements. Paving technicians after looking over our local situation will probably agree that if the town doesn't do something soon the cost of improvements later on will be greater as the streets have reached the point where action is necessary. With few exceptions all of the brick and concrete streets must have immediate attention to save them. Uneven surfaces and cracks are strong evidence of breakup of the base as well as the surface.

According to those familiar with repair technique, the most inexpensive and yet satisfactory repair to brick streets is a hot mix asphalt mat. Concrete streets can be satisfactorily resurfaced with a cold-mix asphalt mat. The hot mix is not recommended for concrete streets and the cold mix is not satisfactory on brick streets. Each have their special application.

Resurfacing of these streets must be carried on in order to protect the investment of the property owners. Just as a roof on a house must be replaced after a long period of service, so must the surface of our improved streets be protected. Resurfacing is inexpensive compared to the replacement of an entire street.

We might as well get down to studying these matters and attempt to do something about them, not weather or not hot weather.

Lately advocates of "let free running things instead of the government" seem to have made an about face when it comes to solving the parking problem. They propose to have the city establish and run the parking lots. Why not let private enterprise step into the breach and make some money on its own, using vacant lots and vacant buildings for automobile parking?

They were killed and another seriously injured in a two-car collision last night about 2½ miles south of New London on Highway 61.

Killed was Mary Ryan, 22, Hannibal, a passenger in a car driven by Berley B. Lacy Jr., 32, also of Hannibal.

The other two victims were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Griffin Rule, Louisiana, Mo. They were in the second vehicle.

Lacy was taken to a Hannibal hospital in serious condition.

Beta Tau of BSP Rates as Three Star Chapter

Beta Tau Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Jerry Trotter, 720 South Beacon, with Mrs. Ben Klein, Mrs. Bob Phillips, Mrs. Dan Robinson and Mrs. Leon Wilborn assisting hostesses.

It was at this meeting that the yardstick was made according to points and Beta Tau totaled enough to be a three star chapter. In order to be a three star chapter there must be 150 points. The yardstick showed Beta Tau to have 163. Points are gained through cultural programs, rushing periods, pledge training, monthly reports, attendance, manual reading, city council representative and alternates' attendance, organization of a new chapter, financial status, money raising activities, social activities, city council and chapter work, together with charity and helping others, and many other things.

Ten members of the chapter will be eligible for the Exemplars Chapter and they were honored at this party: Mrs. Bill Padgett, Mrs. Ed Bruns, Mrs. Bill Fingland, Miss Lois Gordon, Mrs. Rudy Grothers, Miss Helen McFarrich, Mrs. Ben Moore, Mrs. Arthur Morgan, Miss Delores Setzkorn and Mrs. Otton Zimmermann. Flowers given were rosebuds in plastic face.

Charades was played during the evening, "Name that sister," after which refreshments were served to the 22 members present.

Ike Thinks Segregation Ruling Mature

DALLAS — President Eisenhower says the recent Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregation in public schools reflects social and political maturity.

The President's statement was contained in

Optimist Club
Dist. Governor
At Local Club

Dr. Francis J. Nash, governor of District 10, Optimist International, was the guest speaker at the Optimist Club Tuesday noon at Hotel Bothwell, taking for his subject, Philosophical Fun.

The basic fact of optimism, said Dr. Nash, is a sense of humor. You don't see much humor in Russia, he pointed out. Things aren't funny to people over there, but American people not only laugh at other people, they laugh at themselves. Every bit of humor has a serious side, Mr. Nash said, and the most common source is at home. The kids think the old man is a little peculiar, but they tolerate him just the same. He went on to say that children are a comfort to you in your old age, but they help you to reach it quicker.

Dr. Nash related many humorous stories, explaining that most of them were not funny when they happened, but the people they happened to always see the humor in them afterwards. These humorous things happen everywhere, everybody, in the home, in school and certainly in a doctor's office, he said.

The meeting was presided over by Harold Barrick, president, with invocation by the Rev. J. W. Watts. Charles Hanna led the singing with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. H. O. Wilbur, program chairman, who first introduced Al Evans, secretary of district 10, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Nash.

Guests at the meeting were: Mrs. Harold Barrick, Mrs. Ed G. Ringen, Mrs. Jerry Trotter, Mrs. J. W. Watts, Mrs. D. K. Kirby, Mrs. Kenneth Snyder, Mrs. Maurice Hogan, Mrs. Kenneth Holden, Mrs. H. O. Wilbur, Ira Brown and Tom Sawyer.

Vacationers Come, Go.
At Cross Timbers

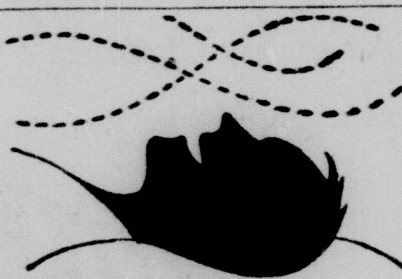

By Beatrice Burnfin
CROSS TIMBERS — Pat Twomey is spending a two week vacation in Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bringle and grandson, Buffalo, S. D., are here visiting their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Burnfin, north of town. Mrs. L. L. Sulter, Linda and Peggy, and Mrs. Mida Burnfin visited in the Oille Marsh home at Wheatland last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Snap Bean and son, Joe Charles, left Sunday, June 27, for a visit with her parents in Texas.

Claude Mille is in a hospital, where his wife has been with him until her return home last Friday.

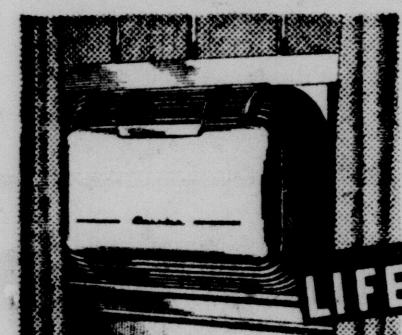

Students estimate there are as many as 30 million overweight Americans.

Laredoans Sleep Thru Great Flood

LAREDO, Tex. (P)—Most of Laredo's 60,000 residents shrugged off the worst flood threat in history and slept soundly last night with the hungry Rio Grande gurgling at their doorsteps.

At 11:30 p.m. radio station KVOZ relayed official advice to the effect that the muddy, debris-choked river, gorged from upstream cloudbursts, had reached 58 feet and was not expected to exceed 60 feet in the next few hours.

The nonchalant Laredoans could go on to bed and to sleep. Most of them did. On a drive around the residential area this reporter saw only darkened homes and no signs of panic or even mild fear.

"It's the calmest place I ever saw," said Highway Patrol Sgt. W. S. Butler, state disaster liaison officer.

"There's been no exodus, no panic. Everything seems to be taking its stride."

There was little sandbagging or moving of goods from downtown business houses because most of the store owners were gambling that the river would not rise the five or six feet it would take to put muddy water in the downtown streets.

But for 1,000 persons in the 400 families who have been evacuated from homes near the river, trouble was piling up. They were housed and fed in four schools thrown open for refugees.

Many of them were like 14-year-old Benigno Layton, who lived with his father and mother, seven brothers and a sister on San Leonardo Street, less than a stone's throw from the roaring river.

They moved to a basement room in downtown Central School yesterday, bringing only some of their furniture. Benigno works in a tortilla factory, his father is jobless, and their adobe (mud brick) home has been devoured by the river.

Benigno said it was pretty tough but his family had come through other floods. Mrs. Ray Stubbs, chairman of the Webb County Red Cross relief committee, with Mrs. Harold Pugh put him to work setting up cots and running errands, and he was still on the job at 2 a.m. while his family slept.

Out on State Highway 202, the last remaining auto link between Laredo and the outside world, via Freer and Duval County, a few Latin-American families were camping. One father, mother and two children slept in their blankets by the roadside.

Here in Laredo, the long advance warning of the flood made it possible for most evacuees to find shelter with relatives or friends.

While most of Laredo slept, a smooth-working combination of local officials, state police, the military and state defense workers stayed on guard all night.

When a longshoreman's strike tied up New York City harbor, one French ship once carried one consignment of 100 tons of roquefort cheese across the Atlantic five times.

Bob Thomas in Hollywood—

Walt Disney to Take Audience To Mars on TV This Fall

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Want a trip to Mars? Walt Disney will take you there on TV this fall.

The amazing Mr. Disney, whose wonders never cease, is preparing a TV series called "Disneyland" for the ABC network. A monthly feature will be "The World of Tomorrow," and one of the subjects will show the preparation and actual flight to Mars.

The red planet is a timely topic, since it is veering close enough to the earth this month for astronomers to get their best squint at it.

To conduct this TV trip to Mars, Disney has hired Willy Ley, who knows as much about space travel as any human being. He formed a society for space travel in his native Germany in 1927, the same year Lindbergh made headlines with an earthly flight. He came to this country in 1935 and continued advocating flight into space by writing books and articles.

Each Time He Opens Mouth Costs Him 30 Days in Jail Cell

OWOSSO, Mich. (P)—John Penyska opened his mouth three times in Circuit Court yesterday. Each time it cost him 30 days in jail.

Judge Michael Carland told him to pay his wife Sally back alimony or serve 30 days in jail.

"I'll take the days," mumbled Penyska.

"That won't wipe out the debt," said the judge.

Penyska voiced a protest.

"Maybe 60 days would be better," said the judge.

"Make it 90 as long as I'm going to jail," Penyska barked.

The judge complied.

GERTRUDE LAWRENCE AS "Mrs. A"

She was born in the slums of London, became one of the theatre's most famous stars... glamour, sparkle, high emotion—the stuff of which legends are made. He was a stuffy Boston blue-blood, shocked at her gay extravagances. Yet between them they shared a love that comes tremblingly alive. If you enjoy the company of sparkling personalities, begin Richard Aldrich's tender, humorous tribute to this amazing marriage of opposites. In the July Ladies' Home Journal. Out today—on all newsstands!

"A flight to Mars?" asks Ley in Germanic tones. "Of course it is possible. All it takes is time and money."

It could happen in 25 years, he said. Or at least 25 years after the decision is made to attempt the project. He figures it would take a decade to establish the space stations, which are essential before the full trip can be attempted.

"Then it would be another 15 years to build and perfect the rocket to travel to Mars," he said.

What would Mars be like? "It would probably be, three quarters desert, with very little water. The days would be pleasant—around 75 degrees in summer. But the nights would be fantastically cold. The complete day is only a little longer than ours—about 24 hours and 37½ minutes."

How would humans exist on Mars?

"They would have to use space suits, of course, because there is no air on the planet. I don't think they would have to be weighted; that has been overestimated. A man would weigh one third less on Mars, but I think he could soon adjust to that."

Actress McDonald Will Go on Trial Oct. 4 for Drug Use

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (P)—Trial of actress Marie McDonald on misdemeanor charges of hit-and-run driving while under the influence of a drug has been set for Oct. 4.

Through her attorney, Miss McDonald, 30, pleaded innocent yesterday and requested the jury trial, which was granted by Municipal Judge Henry Draeger.

The attorney, G. Bentley Ryan, introduced an affidavit from the shapely actress' physician that said: "She has been ill for a number of years, suffering from an active duodenal ulcer and a neuro-muscular condition."

Miss McDonald was arrested June 21 after an auto accident. She told police she had taken two nembutol and four seconal tablets which her physician had prescribed.

OWOSSO, Mich. (P)—The Corunna Milling Co., three miles away, sent a letter containing a $100 check to Dr. H. M. Aishouse, an Owosso dentist two months ago.

The letter was received yesterday—after traveling 7,000 miles to Italy and back.

A brief note in Italian accompanying the letter said it was found in a newspaper mailed to Dr. Vincenzo Spatore by his parents in Owosso.

Orders Nashville's Parochial Schools Opened to Negroes

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (P)—The Most Rev. William L. Adrian, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Nashville, has ordered all parochial schools in the city opened to both Negro and white students.

The Rev. Charles M. Williams, chancellor of the diocese, which includes all of Tennessee, said the order applies only to Nashville. He said decisions on segregation elsewhere in the state will be made later.

The decision, he said, was taken in accordance with the recent Supreme Court decision banning segregation in public schools.

CIO Steelers Ready to Pen More Contracts

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — The CIO United Steelworkers had pen and ink ready today for basic steel producers to follow the lead of U. S. Steel Corp. and sign contracts giving 600,000 men a 5-cent-an-hour pay boost, higher pensions and improved insurance programs.

U. S. Steel, employing 190,000 USW members and usually the contract pace setter for the industry, was first to sign yesterday.

A few hours later, the second largest producer, Bethlehem Steel Co., agreed to the same basic settlement and said it would sign for its 80,000 employees in New York today. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., the fourth largest producer with about 25,000 USW employees, signed the same agreement as U. S. Steel.

A spokesman for the big union headed by David J. McDonald said all other basic steel producers with which the union has contracts expiring at midnight tonight are expected to be in the fold soon. He explained they could either formally sign contracts or memorandums that they will agree to the basic pattern established by U. S. Steel.

Average hourly rates under the new U. S. Steel contract, which runs for two years, will be from $2.19 to $2.29. The 5-cent hike becomes effective tomorrow.

U. S. Steel said its starting rate will become $1.57 an hour "and the present spread of 5 1/2 cents (an hour) between job classes is retained."

The insurance and pension benefits take effect next Nov. 1. The insurance program will be frozen at its new level two years and the pension plan for three years.

U. S. Steel explained its pension setup this way:

It now pays a minimum pension of $100 a month to employees with 25 years' service. This includes federal social security. Under the new plan, an employee retiring at 65 with 30 years of service will get a minimum pension of $140 monthly, including social security. And the agreement calls for retention of the present differential of social security benefits are boosted.

U. S. Steel workers and the corporation each will pay an additional 2 cents an hour for the improved insurance program. Under the old plan, the company paid 2 1/2 cents an hour and the employees the same.

The union estimates the pension improvements will cost about 5 cents an hour for each worker.

There was no comment from U. S. Steel on this. Sources close to both industry and union say the cost may vary with different steel companies, depending on the type of pension plan now in effect.

McDonald, who termed the new pact "an historic and successful contract," estimated the total contract cost to U. S. Steel at about 12 cents an hour. The company didn't comment.

As soon as word of the contract agreement came there was speculation in industry sources that steel companies ultimately might boost prices by $2 to $4.50 a ton. No company would comment.

Baltimore Zoo Has Six-Legged Frog

BALTIMORE, Md. — A new guest was on display today at the Baltimore Zoo—a six-legged frog.

Schoolboys James D. Francies and Reid MacCallum of Phoenix, Md., discovered the unusual specimen on the golf course of the Hillendale Country Club yesterday.

Dr. Robert Simmons of the Natural History Society of Maryland identified the frog as a "not known" type of freak, but still "very rare."

1909—Missouri Sisters—1954

FIVE SISTERS who had their pictures taken together in 1909 recently had another picture taken when one of the group, Mrs. Nancy Gehlken, Tracey, Calif., who was making a tour along the coast from California to New Orleans, Florida and Washington, D.C., stopped off in Missouri. The women are: Mrs. W. H. Hatfield, Syracuse; Mrs. Noah Moon, Smithton; Mrs. Doshia Williams, Otterville; Mrs. J. B. Mock, Fortuna; and Mrs. Nancy Gehlken, Tracey, Calif. There are also three brothers living, William Fowler, Warsaw, Harrison Fowler and Edwin Fowler, Sedalia. These eight brothers and sisters are the last of a family of 14 children. (Photo by Lehmer)

Dulles Will Review Guatemala Situation In TV-Radio Report

WASHINGTON, Pa. — Secretary of State Dulles tonight will review the Guatemala situation in a television-radio report to the nation. He will speak for 15 minutes, starting at 8:45 p.m., EDT. ABC radio and Du Mont television will air the talk live. Other networks have scheduled later rebroadcasts.

Congress Highlights

WASHINGTON, Pa. — Senate leaders of both parties muster all available voting strength in advance of showdown balloting on a Democratic-sponsored proposal to cut individual income taxes.

GOP strategists count noses at a party caucus to see whether they can beat the Democratic amendment to the administration's tax revision bill. It seems likely they'll offer a substitute income tax proposal of their own if they become convinced the Democratic move has good chances of success.

The administration bill would cut individual and corporate taxes nearly 1 1/2 billion dollars in its first year of operation. It would not, however, change any major tax rates.

FARM — The House opens debate on the most controversial proposal in President Eisenhower's legislative program — a plan to substitute flexible farm prices supports for the high, rigid props now in effect. The House considers a bill, voted by its Agriculture Committee, which rejects the President's proposal. However, administration forces fight for Eisenhower's plan on the House floor.

FOREIGN AID — House consideration of the administration's $1.2-billion-dollar foreign aid program nears the voting stage. Prospects are that cuts will run slightly over 100 million dollars. The House will formally ratify a decision made yesterday to retain an allotment of 800 millions for non-Communist forces in Indochina.

MCCARTHY-ARMY — Senators who investigated the McCarthy Army row meet for a report on why two Senate Investigations subcommittee employees haven't been cleared to handle secret Defense Department documents. The question is whether the two men — who haven't been identified — have been denied clearance or whether

Navy Will Modify Plane Catapults On Its Carriers

NEW YORK, Pa. — The Navy will modify the plane-launching catapults on all but two aircraft carriers as a result of the May 26 explosion aboard the carrier Bennington. The disaster cost more than 100 lives.

A Navy official said yesterday all carriers affected by the modification plan have catapults operated on a hydraulic principle, except the Intrepid and the Hancock, which have steam catapults.

Although no official cause for the Bennington disaster has been announced, the Navy believes the explosion and the fire started in the catapult.

A check on them hasn't been completed.

Blames US Restaurants For High Coffee Price

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—Fifteen cents per cup of coffee gives restaurants more than 300 per cent gross profit, says Dr. Roberto E. Canessa, minister of foreign affairs of El Salvador.

Dr. Canessa told the Chamber of Commerce of the Americas here yesterday that the public shouldn't blame coffee producers for these prices and said government leaders "have leaped on the coffee price bandwagon."

He said 1 cent per pound increase in the price of coffee costs American consumers 27 million dollars, but four-fifths of this remains in the United States.

Dulles Admitted to Congressmen He Had No Southeast Asia Solution

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Republican and Democratic congressmen who attended the recent White House briefing on Far Eastern problems came away with a depressed feeling. The depression, they said, was not so much because the situation was grave but because the administration didn't seem to know what to do about it.

The closed-door session gives significant insight into how Eisenhower and Dulles were thinking during their talks with Churchill.

President Eisenhower started the briefing with a short pep talk in which he called for bipartisan support. Then he introduced Under-Secretary of State W. Bedell Smith, just back from the Geneva conference.

Gloomily, Smith reported that France is ready to accept an Indo-China cease-fire at any price, and we will probably have to go along with it. Inasmuch as we dictated the armistice terms in Korea on the ground that our boys were doing the fighting, the French are now insisting on fixing the terms in Indo-China for the same reason.

The United States, the undersecretary of state told the senators, is prepared to draw a "fighting line" in Indo-China, which would embrace Laos, Cambodia, and part of Vietnam. And if the Reds cross that line, the United States would be willing to fight. Smith left the impression, however, that the Reds would demand occupation of all Vietnam—the wealthiest and most populated part of Indo-China—and that the French would let them get away with it.

Secretary Dulles spoke up during one part of the briefing to say that he "thought" India might join an anti-Communist alliance if the Reds tried to invade Laos and Cambodia, because of India's cultural and religious ties with these two small states. But he quickly added that he had no positive evidence.

Meanwhile, Undersecretary Smith reported that the Chinese Communists are already wooing Laos and Cambodia. He left the impression that, as soon as the military offensive is halted, the Reds would start a political offensive with honeyed words and "silver bullets" to win over the rest of Indo-China.

Knowland Cross-Examines

Only Senator who fired any really hot questions at Smith and Dulles was Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader. The Democrats asked few questions and there was no apparent desire to embarrass the administration.

Senator Knowland, however, questioned Smith rather sharply as to where the final "fighting line" will be drawn in Indo-China. If we draw a fighting line now, and proclaim that we will fight at that line, would we not draw another line later, Knowland asked, and then retreat still farther to another line? Smith and Secretary Dulles never gave him a direct answer. They talked around in circles.

Undersecretary Smith admitted that we were getting next to nowhere with the Southeast Asia Alliance. The key, he said, was India, and he indicated that England was taking her cue from India.

The report was so gloomy that Secretary Dulles felt compelled to give a little cherry talk and try to end the conference on an optimistic note.

"The Mendes-France government more nearly expresses the will and spirit of the French people," Mr. Dulles beamed. He interpreted this as improving relations between the United States and France and holding out "more hope" for our policies.

"Hogwash"

Senators, comparing notes afterward, recalled that Dulles had told the same group before the Geneva conference that the only reason he was going to Geneva was to save his "friend George Bidault" from losing his job as Foreign minister and to prevent Mendes-France from the overthrow of the pro-American Laniel government.

Dulles told the senators that the Geneva conference which he once described as the hope of the world could not yet be judged a failure because it wasn't over yet.

As the congressional group filed out, Congressman Vinson of Georgia snorted: "Hogwash! Pure Hogwash!"

He was so loud that the statesmen who had brewed the so-called "hogwash" couldn't help but overhear.

He Judged Oppenheimer

Admiral Strauss could well have been more careful about picking the judges to pass on Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer in the most important test of a top scientist in the history of the nation.

It now develops that Strauss picked as one of the three judges a man whose company had once exchanged valuable patents with Hitler's Germany and Mussolini's Italy before Pearl Harbor: who also urged commercial links with Soviet Russia; and who, when head of another company, tried to send airplanes to South America in violation of the laws of the United States.

He is Tom Morgan, former head of Sperry Gyroscope, who voted that Dr. Oppenheimer, though loyal, was a poor security risk and might leak information to potential enemies.

Among the charges against Oppenheimer was that he once had Communist friends, though it was stated that he had given no information to Communists. However, the New York Times of Nov. 23, 1943, reports that Tom Morgan was a featured speaker at a dinner honoring Peter Bogdanov, head of the Russian Trading Corporation. Bogdanov was reuniting to Russia, and Mr. Morgan, with other New York business leaders, met at a big dinner to say goodbye and pay him tribute. "Behind the speakers' table," said the New York Times, "... Hung the Red flag of Russia with its crossed hammer and sickle."

Morgan was then president of the Curtiss-Wright Aviation Corp. He was chairman of the Curtiss-Wright board when, a few months later, March 30, 1935, Curtiss-Wright tried to ship four bombers to Bolivia, then engaged in the Chaco War—in violation of the U. S. neutrality act. As a result, Curtiss-Wright was criminally prosecuted and fined $260,000, with two of its subsidiary executives fined $11,000 each.

Simultaneously, Mr. Morgan, now retired, was head of Sperry Gyroscope when it faced a criminal antitrust charge for exchanging patents with German, Italian and Japanese firms which the senate munitions committee showed were for military purposes and certainly could have been of value to a potential enemy. The case was settled after Pearl Harbor with a consent decree. In fairness to Sperry Gyroscope, it should be

Prevention Is Still The Best Line of Attack on Silicosis

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

This column is in response to several requests from readers to discuss silicosis. This chronic condition of the lungs is the result of breathing in over a long period of time air containing small particles of silica.

Silica is a substance which is widely distributed over the earth and makes up a large part of rocks and minerals. It occurs in high concentration in granite and other rocks.

This being the case, a person who is exposed to fine dust is likely to inhale a good deal of silica; silicosis is, therefore, largely an occupational disease.

The hazard exists particularly among mine and tunnel workers, stonecutters and those engaged in certain kinds of manufacture, such as glass making, molding of metals and the manufacture and use of abrasives.

Fifteen or 20 years' exposure to dangerous particles of silica may result in the production of fibrous nodules in the lungs. Furthermore there is a relation between silicosis and tuberculosis.

The diagnosis of silicosis is not always easy. Two things are necessary: A history of exposure in occupation and the characteristic findings in the X-ray film.

A curious feature of silicosis is that the appearance of the lungs on X-ray may not bear any relation to the severity of the symptoms. The symptoms may be severe with very little X-ray changes, or the other way around.

Indeed, silicosis may reach a fairly advanced stage without causing anything other than slight shortness of breath.

Prevention of silicosis is the best line of attack. In the dusty trades, every possible measure should be employed to free the air of dangerous quantities of silica-containing dust.

In recent years protective measures have been much improved, but it is important that they be used and frequently inspected in order to keep them in good working condition. Periodic examination of workers exposed to silica-containing dust is also of the greatest importance.

The outlook for many of those who have acquired silicosis, even if accompanied by tuberculosis, is apparently not as dismal as was formerly assumed.

Drudgery Is Necessary To Be Good Mother, Homemaker

By Ruth Milliet

"How can a woman who spends most of her waking hours cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing, dusting and keeping three under-school-age children out of trouble help but feel like a drudge?" a reader asks.

It's just a simple question but, without a simple answer.

Maybe when she gets to feeling like nothing but a drudge, this little story will help her.

It has been said that once when the great pianist, Paderewski, was told that he was a genius he replied, "Perhaps, but before I was a genius I was a drudge."

And so it is with the job of homemaking. A lot of pure drudgery goes into the housewife's day, especially during those years when her children are small.

The drudgery sometimes seems almost endless. And then it is that a woman may wonder if that isn't all that she is — a drudge.

Take Pride In Your Achievements

At those times when she loses sight of it is that the drudgery is just the building of a foundation. The result of the drudgery isn't just a clean house, children who have been restrained from getting hurt, and a husband who has been tidied up after and fed today, and will have to be tidied up after and fed again tomorrow.

The result is a happy home, children who are being given a good start in life and will some day be qualified to make good homes of their own, a husband whose own life has been enriched by a wife and children and a happy home.

And as for the drudge, she isn't really a drudge at all, but a woman who is busy at the job she wanted most in the world, the job of being a wife, mother and homemaker.

There is drudgery behind the establishing of a home and a family.

To avoid feeling like a drudge, look up from the drudgery often to see what you are building.

Cutting Sales Technique

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, who is quite a salesman himself, turns out to be just another pushover for a good salesman's line.

Proof of this has been demonstrated by 16-year old Beth Weinstein of Schenectady, New York. She is the Junior Achievement Award winner in a national contest to find the best kid salesman in the U. S. She has just won a $500 scholarship in a contest with 1800 other young salesmen.

The product she sold Secretary Weeks was a $1.98 knife holder. This is the paragraph in her sales letter that overcame Secretary Weeks' low sales resistance:

"What with all the arguing, bickering and petty politicking going on every day, wouldn't it be a good idea to hang my knife rack where our statesmen in Washington could put away their knives and concentrate on working for the common good of our country—say, working on world peace instead of on television charts that tell how many times David Schine had a pass from the Army?"

Note: Secretary Weeks isn't going to hang the knife rack in his office for the statesmen to park their cutlery in, however. In mailing his check to Miss Weinstein he wrote:

"You can be sure that the knife rack will be put to good use in the kitchen of our home."

noted that it is now leaning over backward against any exchange of patent information with foreign countries.

However, this was the judge, Thomas A. Morgan, picked by Admiral Strauss to pass judgment on the scientist who developed the atom bomb, because he might pass information on to a potential enemy.

Anchor Point

The World Today— Oppenheimer Can't Start Anew

(By James Marlow)

WASHINGTON — Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer will bear until he dies — as if he wore it as a mark on his forehead — the government verdict that he is a security risk who cannot be trusted with his country's secrets.

An ordinary man, brushed aside like this, might disappear into obscurity. The 50-year-old Oppenheimer never can. He is a genius. He is among the top five or six theoretical physicists of the world.

He directed the making of a wartime A-bomb. He is head of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J. He is known to scientists everywhere. Working with them and exchanging ideas with them has been his life. He can hardly begin another.

The drama of the rest of his days may not be as spectacular as the drama of the last 12 months but it will be just as intense for him because it will probably be more quietly personal.

It was almost 12 months ago — July 7, 1953 — that Lewis L. Strauss, who only three days before had become chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), ordered a re-examination to determine whether the government should continue to trust Oppenheimer with some of its most vital secrets.

In December Strauss informed Oppenheimer the reply was no. It wasn't final. Oppenheimer could ask, and did, for a hearing before a special board set up by the AEC.

Oppenheimer testified as did dozens of others. Most of the witnesses said he was trustworthy. A few said he wasn't. The board decided he was loyal but not a man to be trusted with secrets and reviewed his story.

He had been a fellow traveler. He had Communist friends. He attended meetings with them. He was engaged to one woman who was a Communist and married another who had been. His brother and sister-in-law were Communists for a time.

AND so it was decided. Ricky would drive home. "Roll it outside," Chub said. "We'll give you enough gas to get to a station. Got oil and water?"

"Yeah. But I didn't want gas while we were carrying it."

"Let's go, then."

"Grab on," Ricky said, tossing his gold cup on the front seat.

"Ricky..." Sharon was still troubled. "Let's wait for the truck."

He laughed and patted her cheek. "You're still worried about Link. He won't be anywhere near any parade I lead. And we won't race, will we, guys?"

"Race?" Jerry repeated, trying to look shocked. "We're DTA members." Still grinning he added seriously, "We won't do anything to gum up the works, Sharon. Don't worry."

The boys laid hands on the little coupe and rolled it toward one of the big doors. Sharon followed, actually pleased that they would drive back. She hadn't ridden in the coupe, and she wanted to know what it was like to drive.

Before they left, Ricky and Sharon got hamburgers. But neither was able to eat. Ricky took a couple of quick bites and then decided he wasn't hungry. "You look half-starved," Sharon said.

"I just can't eat," he said, getting to his feet. "Let's get started."

Ricky drove out of Des Moines very slowly with Link, Jerry, Chub and Sherm following. They blew their horns, but not to make him hurry. They wanted everyone to see that they belonged with the prize-winning little car.

"Runs like a top," Ricky said to Sharon. "Handles like a dream. It's a feather. Oh, baby, but I bet it can drag! Some time I'll have to find a place where I can find out what it will really do."

"Not tonight," Sharon cautioned. "Still worrying? I won't be careless. I've got everything to be careful for now. Why, I'm in business. I really am. I can probably get a bank loan now if I need money. Kid, I've got it made!"

They drove out of Des Moines on to the open highway. The night was bright and clear, the road was dry, there was little traffic.

Ricky pressed down on the gas pedal with just a little pressure. The coupe picked up like a bird. It rolled smoothly, easily, without effort, the twin pipes crooning. He glanced at his speedometer. Sixty! It didn't seem possible. He'd thought he was doing 45, at the most. There was that much difference between the new coupe and the old. Maybe that's what new shocks did for it—plus everything else.

He sailed down the smooth white highway behind his lights. It was so easy, so effortless. What a feeling, driving a rod that did everything right. Look at that! 70, and he wasn't even trying. It was like something alive. It wanted to go. He couldn't hold it back.

HE glanced at Sharon. She looked peaceful, happy and pretty. The ride was so smooth she didn't even know he was hitting 70. If it was that smooth, it couldn't be considered speeding. He looked in his rear-view mirror. The guys were giving him plenty of room as they trailed him. Nobody was risking a sudden stop and a bump. Good guys! Ricky began to hum.

Sharon looked at him and smiled. "Happy?" she asked.

"So happy I could loop the loop with this baby."

"You sound happy."

"I've got plenty to be happy

Some Motorists Will Celebrate 4th Being Killed

Some Missouri motorists will celebrate the Fourth of July holiday by being killed as the result of traffic accidents. Out-of-state drivers, on Missouri highways will add to the fatality total. Several other motorists will remember the Fourth because of painful injuries resulting from careless driving. Many expensive cars will end up in the junk yards, mangled reminders of today's motor-madness and speed mania.

Unfortunately, the Missouri Highway Patrol reports, this is the outlook for the holiday period. Predictions are that this will be the greatest Fourth of July traffic jam in history.

Colonel Hugh Waggoner, Superintendent of the Patrol, says that persons who are planning a holiday outing should make some definite safety plans to lessen their chances of becoming part of the holiday statistics. He gave the following tips, which he said can add much to the highway safety of a holiday trip.

Holiday travelers should start early before traffic is heavy and allow adequate time for the trip so that the usual speed can be reduced 10 miles an hour and then slow down even more when approaching intersections or traffic signals. All legal and common sense speed limits should be obeyed.

Drivers should be especially careful when passing. They should use the yellow line on the highway as a guide, but they should always make sure when no yellow line appears, that the way ahead is clear.

A safe, clear stopping distance should be maintained from the car ahead and a careful watch in the rear view mirror of the road behind. When stops or turns are to be made, a clear correct signal should be given well in advance.

try and the cool weather which was always about 60 and 65. It was quite a change to come back to this heat, but said Mrs. Geiger, "We are both Missourians, so we are used to any kind of weather."

In Denver they visited with Dr. Geiger's brother, John Geiger, Dr. and Mrs. Geiger made the trip both ways by plane.

you... He sang it "Thank you."

"Me?"

"You talked me into entering the show after I'd given up."

"I knew you would do a good job, I guess. And it was important not to give up the DTA ideals. That won a lot of respect for you."

"You did it, though. I was ready to give up and go back to rattling around."

"But you didn't."

"I won't, ever. I'm through with that crazy stuff. When I think of the crazy things I used to do... I was stupid."

Sharon sighed and leaned back. She looked tired. Ricky smiled and began to sing quietly. He kept glancing at her sweet, relaxed face. Her eyes closed, the long lashes lying darkly against her cheeks. There was a faint smile on her full red mouth. He wanted to lean over and...

The lights were moving up on him. He knew... he knew... The lights coming fast, like an arrow aimed at the back of his head.

SO this was Link's way. He wanted another of the same... the bumping, the bullying, and a fight, so he could use his fists.

It was Link all right, and he was riding inches away from Ricky's back bumper.

Ricky glanced at Sharon. She was asleep. Tired as she was, car motion wouldn't wake her. And once just once... It would be better than beating Link in a fight. Better than anything it was the only thing that would cut Link down to size. Ricky knew now what was missing in his life. He had accomplished everything, reached every goal but the one he had striven for the longest without progress. Once to beat Link at something!

And this was it. This was the way. The night or day that he ran Link's convertible into the ground, the fight would be won. His life would be complete. It was all he needed to make everything perfect. Just once, and Link would never dare bother him again.

GRASSHOPPER DAMAGE shows in this photo taken this week in Missouri. The 'hoppers strip a field of corn in short order. They are bad now over the state and are expected to get worse. (MFA Photo)

Insect Situation for Week—

Heavy Grasshopper Damage Shows, More Due in 10 Days

By Stirling Kyd
Extension Entomologist
University of Missouri

The grasshopper situation is becoming extremely serious. Heavy damage is showing up, and there will be even more damage over nearly all of the state during the next 10 days. In addition, you can expect this damage to continue indefinitely.

Remember, 'hoppers will continue to hurt us clear up until frost. Some may die of old age before that, but even so, there will be plenty around when cold weather comes. With the number of 'hoppers we now have, you can easily imagine the crop damage that will be done in the meantime.

To prevent such damage on any farm, the 'hoppers must be killed now. The only alternative is to turn the place over to the 'hoppers and let them have it.

Most pastures are heavily infested. These should be sprayed both to save forage and to stop the infestation from spreading. (An average of 17 'hoppers per square yard will eat about 50 pounds of forage a day per acre—or will eat about a ton a day from a 40-acre field.)

To be safe, don't turn livestock in a pasture less than two weeks after spraying. Some folks are turning back quicker than this, and are getting away with it, but we do not recommend such a thing. If there is no other pasture, use a hot wire to divide it and spray half while the other half is being grazed. Under no circumstances should dairy cattle run on pastures less than two weeks after spraying. And don't spray hay crops within two weeks of cutting. Take the hay off and then spray for 'hoppers.

Don't expect to stop 'hopper damage by merely spraying the edges of a field. This will help for a while, but within a short time, other 'hoppers will move in from unsprayed areas outside the fence row.

There is no easy, short-cut method of getting rid of grasshoppers. The only way crops can be protected is to spray out immediately those places where you now find 'hoppers. Anyone not willing to do this should brace himself now—he'll be chewed on the rest of the summer.

Green-Striped Maple Worms
Green-striped maple worms—those worms that stripped the soft maples last year—are getting started again. Control is not difficult if a power sprayer is available. One pound of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder, or one quart of 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate, in 50 gallons of water should kill them. The big difficulty, however, is getting a spray rig that will get the spray up in the tops of the trees. It will take an orchard-type sprayer to get this done.

Blister Beetles
Numerous reports of blister beetle damage to gardens have been received from southwest Missouri. Since blister beetle populations build up following an increase of grasshopper numbers, damage may be expected to increase during the new few weeks over the entire state.

The use of a 5 per cent methoxychlor dust on garden crops has given good blister beetle control during the past few years. The methoxychlor dust will not kill many of the beetles but it will act as a repellent, driving the swarm away before the garden is stripped and ruined. However, should a person find it necessary to spray, use methoxychlor at the rate of one pound of actual per 100 gallons or one tablespoon per gallon of water. Methoxychlor should not be applied to edible portions of vegetables ready to be harvested.

A Word of Caution
So far, this has been quite a "bug" year. We have used a lot of insecticides—much more than usual. And a lot more will be needed before fall. So far, there have been few authenticated cases of any person or any livestock being injured by these insecticides. But this threat is always present and must not be ignored.

These insecticides are poisons and they must be treated as poisons. If handled and used with common sense precautions, most of them are perfectly safe. Used foolishly, most insecticides can be dangerous.

Insecticides are a necessary farm tool—but just like any other tool, get careless and you can get hurt.

Smithton Community Club Started for Better Town

The Community Club is the name chosen for the club which was organized at the Smithton school house Thursday night. The goal of the club is to make Smithton a better place to live.

The meeting was presided over by Mayor Ihrig and the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. L. D. Hoehns; vice-president, Roy Miller; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Bill Zahring; publicity, Mrs. C. E. Eichholz.

Following the election, the mayor turned the meeting over to Mrs. Hoehns who presided during a short business meeting, during which the name was selected. The first Tuesday of each month was chosen as a meeting date.

The president appointed the following membership committee, Mrs. V. V. Siegel, Mrs. O. G. Bolte and Archie Peoples. Membership is not limited to residents of Smithton, but is open to anyone interested in seeing Smithton progress.

Mayor Ihrig told about the plans of the City Council, explained the finances and gave a talk about the water system and the coming election to vote bonds for the system. He announced that a representative of the bonding company would be here to address a mass meeting shortly after the first of July. He will give a complete explanation of the bonds and their effect on taxes.

Old Vet Instructs Friends to Encase His Body in Cement

ONARGA, Ill. (AP)—A war veteran's body will be buried tomorrow in a slanting tomb and packed with cement but no one in Onarga knows why.

Frank Grove, 69, a soldier in the war with Spain, the Mexican border expedition and World War I, died yesterday in a soldiers home in Washington.

A decade ago he built a tomb standing at a 45-degree angle. He often showed the tomb with pride to his friends but none of the elderly Onarga residents recalls why he built it on an angle.

Elmer Natterstad, Onarga mortician, said he has been instructed to remove the body from the casket, wrap it up in canvas and encase the body in fresh cement. He conquers friction wear . . . because this exclusive discovery actually fastens a thin film of lubricant to moving engine parts for full-time protection.

Protection 2

ACID-PROOFING

conquers corrosive wear . . . because this exclusive new discovery gives Conoco Super up to twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

Automotive engineers have long known that friction and corrosion are the two major causes of engine wear. Now, from the laboratories of Continental Oil, comes America's first Double-Duty motor oil. It combines two exclusive discoveries (Oil-Plating and Acid-Proofing)* to conquer both major causes of engine wear.

The unique Oil-Plating additive conquers friction wear by actually fastening a thin film of protective oil to engine parts. Unlike ordinary motor oil, this film won't drain down even when your engine has been stopped overnight. Thus you get full-time protection against damaging wear due to friction.

Exclusive Acid-Proofing additive conquers corrosive wear three ways—it neutralizes acids, prevents rust, and gobbles up tiny particles of dust, dirt, and water and seals them safely in spheres of oil until the oil is drained. ACID-PROOFING actually gives new Conoco Super twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

New Conoco Super Motor Oil is on sale at Conoco dealers everywhere. Drive in and ask for it today!

Your Conoco dealer will recommend the right grade of new Conoco Super Motor Oil for your car, your climate, your driving conditions.

Giants Still Win; Miracles Big Advantage

By BEN PHLEGAR AP Sports Writer

The New York Giants apparently are going to stay in first place until they run out of miracles. So far their supply has seemed almost unlimited.

They pulled another one out of the hat last night, beating their bitter rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-3 in 13 innings when Dusty Rhodes delivered a two-out, pinch-hit single with the bases loaded and the Giants a run behind.

It was the 10th time this season that the Giants have won in their last chance at bat.

Three weeks ago yesterday a ninth-inning double by Monte Irvin drove in two runs for a 6-5 victory over Milwaukee. Two days later, still in Milwaukee, rookie Bill Taylor delivered a pinch homer in the 10th for a 1-0 victory that moved the New Yorkers into a first-place tie with Brooklyn.

Nineteen games later they are two lengths in front of the Dodgers. During that time they've won 16 and lost 3, and six of those victories came in the final inning.

Brooklyn twice tried to steal the script last night. Trailing 2-0 after eight innings, the Dodgers kept the game alive as Jackie Robinson singled with one out in the ninth and rode home on Roy Campanella's two-out homer over the left-field grandstand. In the top of the 13th rookie Don Hoak sliced a homer into the nearby right-field seats.

But in their half of the 13th the Giants sandwiched three walks around two outs and Rhodes turned the crowd of 51,464 into a bedlam with his hit up the middle.

Elsewhere in the National League the Chicago Cubs lost their 11th in a row, 7-0 to Milwaukee; Philadelphia whipped Pittsburgh 4-0; and Cincinnati crushed St. Louis 11-4.

Cleveland picked up half a game on Chicago in the American League and now leads the White Sox by two games. The Indians hit a single, but Chicago had to settle for a split in a twin bill with Detroit, winning 5-0 after losing 10-3. The New York Yankees stayed three games back with a 14-5 triumph at Boston. Philadelphia shaded Washington 3-2.

Art Houtteman of the Indians broke a five-game Baltimore winning streak with a five-hitter. One of the Orioles' hits was a single by Dick Kryhoski, who stretched his streak to 19 games, longest in the majors this season.

Detroit jumped ahead of the White Sox in the first game as Harvey Kuenn opened with a home run and the Tigers added a dozen more hits in piling up their seven-run winning margin. Sandy Consuegra checked them on three safeties in the nightcap, which was shortened to eight innings by the league curfew.

Mickey Mantle paced the Yankee assault on the Boston pitching corps with four hits in five times up, including a triple. Harry Byrd, unaccustomed to such robust support, weakened in the closing innings and needed help from Tom Gorman.

Arnold Portocarrero, a likely looking rookie, won his fifth straight for the Athletics with the help of a Washington error by Mickey Vernon and a triple by Bill Renna.

Jim Wilson of the Braves, who was on the market for $10,000 with no takers until he pitched a no-hitter earlier this month, turned in his fifth victory without a loss and his third shutout in beating the hapless Cubs. Eddie Mathews hit his 14th homer.

An inside-the-park home run by Richie Ashburn with two mates on base broke a scoreless tie in the eighth inning at Pittsburgh as Herman Wehmeier pitched a seven-hit shutout.

Stan Musial hit his 24th home run, tying Willie Mays of the Giants for the league lead, but the Cardinals continued to sink deeper into second division. Gus Bell led the Cincinnati attack with a home run and two singles and the Redlegs took advantage of two errors and three hit batsmen.

Sports Roundup— Charles' Return Bout With Marciano Now Out of Picture

By GAYLE TALBOT NEW YORK K.P.—A great silence has settled over the heavyweight situation only a fortnight after Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles engaged in their blood bath, and what you hear is that they will not fight again this year. The talked-of return in September is said to be definitely out.

It's a delicate subject and neither side likes very much to talk about it, but the obstacle is the same one which has caused Marciano, against his natural instincts, to be one of the most inactive of the champions—the income tax. He would be able to take home only small leavings from another bout this year, scarcely enough to justify his risking the title.

Rocky would like to fight more often, and it is no secret that the sooner he gets Ezzard in the ring again the better he will like it. But he will never argue the wisdom of the man who made him champion, his manager Al Weill. One report is that the second edition of one of the greatest heavyweight brawls in history may be held at Miami in February.

There appears no chance whatever that the two major leagues will do anything more important than play a ball game at Cleveland. Hank Greenberg's proposal that American and National League clubs play a certain number of scheduled games against each other during the regular season as a means of stimulating new interest in the game has drawn almost a blanket blasting from Hank's fellow magnates.

Probably the chief fault being found with the plan is that it would throw into the discard all batting and pitching and fielding records that have been set over the long years—make them meaningless in the future.

Another objection nearly as pungent is that the two pennant winners might meet in a final series just as the regular season ends, and one of them give the other a frightful mauling. Nobody would want to go to the World Series.

These are in addition to games with Big-7 competitors which the MU Tigers will face.

No. 2 Crown Contender Fights Tonite

WASHINGTON (#—Holy Mims, currently second-ranked contender for the world middleweight title, gets an acid test tonight against rangy and ringwise Bobby Dykes.

There appeared little doubt that Mims, a steady-punching Washington Negro, and Dykes, a crafty Texas from San Antonio, would be ready to stage a real scrap in their 10-round bout.

It will be televised at 10 p.m., EDT, by CBS.

Both will be bearing down extra-hard because victory could mean a shot at the world crown now held by tough Bobo Olson of Honolulu.

If Mims wins—and thus clings to his runner-up spot in the National Boxing Assn. list—he will be in perfect position to claim a championship match soon with the winner of the forthcoming Olson-Rocky Castellani go.

And, if Dykes gets the nod and breaks Mims' 10-straight victory string (many think he may do it) Dykes would put himself in a top challenging position.

On the eve of their scrap, Mims was favored at 7-5, but experts predicted the pair would enter the ring at even money or with Dykes possibly holding a slight edge because of his experience.

Dykes, who has been fighting professionally since 1946, has worked his way up from among the better welterweights to a highly respected position in the middleweight class. He has fought more

Ralph Beard Unsuccessful For Cardinals

CINCINNATI (# — The St. Louis Cardinals tried out Ralph Beard, a Cincinnati native, on the mound last night, but two innings, three walks and one run later sent him to the showers.

Then the Cincinnati Redlegs, facing the more familiar offerings of Al Brazle, plunged ahead for an 11-4 victory and a stronger hold on fifth place.

Beard, making his first start for St. Louis since coming up from the Columbus, Ohio, club, didn't allow a hit, but showed he was wild in the second with a walk and a pitch which hit Johnny Temple on the head.

In the third two walks and an error by Tom Alston, later optioned to Rochester, filled the bases. Beard then walked Roy McMillan to force in the run.

A single by Gus Bell off reliever Brazle brought in two runs and McMillan scored on a doubleplay grounder.

The Cards, who had one run in the first on Stan Musial's 24th homer, tallied once in the fourth and twice more in the fifth to tie the count before Bill hit a home run to give Cincinnati the lead for keeps. Rip Repulski drove in both the fifth frame St. Louis runs with a single.

The Redlegs scored three runs in both the seventh and eighth innings. A hit batsman, a passed ball and another error by Alston contributed to the St. Louis team's troubles.

In addition to Alston the Cardinals optioned Tom Burgess, outfielder, to Rochester and brought up first baseman Joe Cunningham from their New York farm club.

Turpin - Bratton Out of Top Ten Middleweights

NEW YORK (AP)—Two former champions, middleweight Randy Turpin of England and welterweight Johnny Bratton of Chicago, are out of the first ten rankings for the first time in years in the latest Ring Magazine ratings of boxers.

Veteran light heavyweight Danny Nardicio also was dropped out of the elite group as editor Nat Fleischer gave every one of the eight divisions a good going-over today.

Turpin, ninth a month ago, and Philadelphia's Gil Turner, who was tenth, were dropped to make room for Argentina's Eduardo (KO) Lausse (10th) and Germany's Gustav (Bubi) Scholz (9th). France's Pierre Langlois jumped from sixth to fourth.

In the welterweight class, Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., joined the group in the ninth position. Oakland Billy Smith took over Nardicio's No. 8 spot.

Among the heavyweights, Tommy Harrison was replaced in the big ten by veteran Harry (Kid) Matthews of Seattle, and Earl Walls of Toronto and Dan Bucaroni of Philadelphia traded the No. 7 and 8 berths with Walls now seventh.

Percy Bassett of Philadelphia once again became the No. 1 czar as the result of his 11th round tko of Lulu Perez and Carmelo Costa's upset of Mexico's Baby Ortiz. Ortiz had been ranked first a month ago. Belgium's Jean Sneyers is now second, France's Ray Pamechon third, Perez fourth and Ortiz fifth.

Chiefs Battle Brookfield Here Tonight

With hopes of improving their standing in the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League, the Sedalia Chiefs will meet the Brookfield team under the lights at Liberty Park tonight at 8 p.m.

Although their chances at a first half pennant were rather rudely shattered Sunday night, when the Boonville Lions took their measure, the Chiefs still have an opportunity to end the first half in second place and will be shooting the works for this game. By winning this and the other remaining game with Mexico on Friday at Mexico, the Chiefs could conceivably tie for the flag should Moberly and Boonville lose their remaining two games. Failing that, a loss by either of them would allow the Chiefs to be right among the leaders.

Either Delph or Burton will be on the mound for the game with Brookfield while Manager Hayden will have Arnold and Schultz to call on for the game at Mexico on Friday.

The annual All-Star contest will be played early in July in the home park of the first half pennant winner. Several of the local lads have and excellent chance to make this All-Star team and if they can't win the pennant, the next most coveted thing is a position on this league All-Star squad. They will all be playing wide-awake baseball and their efforts should be most entertaining.

Mo. Valley Tennis Meet Into Q-Finals

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Competition for younger players in the Missouri Valley Tennis Tournament neared the pressure point today as play hit the quarterfinals.

Results in yesterday's mixed doubles of singles and reversals brought only two form reversals as two seeded players in the junior singles were sidelined.

Dick Horwitz of St. Louis bounced fifth-seeded Mike Poinzer of Kansas City, Kan., 6-4, 6-3 in the second round. Another St. Louis entry, Calvin Moore, swished past Jim Jackson of Chickasha, Okla., 8-6, 6-2, 6-3 in the third round. Horwitz eliminated Pat Buckley of Oklahoma City, 6-4, 6-4, for his quarterfinal berth.

Topseeded Al Holtman of St. Louis and second-seeded Bob Riley of Kansas City moved up easily. Holtman blanked Randy Robins, Oklahoma City, 6-0, 6-0 and Riley defeated James Tudor, Muskogee, Okla., 6-0, 6-2.

Topseeded Al Holtman of St. Louis and second-seeded Bob Riley of Kansas City moved up easily. Holtman blanked Randy Robins, Oklahoma City, 6-0, 6-0 and Riley defeated James Tudor, Muskogee, Okla., 6-0, 6-2.

Ron Ramming of Lawton, Okla., sixth ranked, Jim Carter, Arkansas City, Kan., and Warren Kice, Ada, Okla., also advanced to the quarterfinals. Ramming downed Don Middlebrook, Des Moines, 6-2, 8-6 and Carter posted a 6-1, 6-2 decision over Jerry Lyle of Muskogee. Kice edged Jerry Chene of Henryetta, Okla., 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

In the boys' division, Earl Buchholz Jr., the No. 1 entry, continued to set the pace with a 6-0, 6-0 win over Will Hugh Willis of Duncan, Okla. It was Buchholz' third straight love set triumph. His quarterfinal opponent will be Lanny Nelms of Lawton, who defeated Pete Woodward of Topeka, 8-6, 6-3.

Defending champion Sallie Ann Rieley of Kansas City recorded two decisive wins to advance into the quarterfinals of junior singles. She defeated Owen McHany of Little Rock, Ark., 6-1, 6-1 and Connie Cristler, Kansas City, 6-1, 6-0.

Lois Weinstein, second-seeded entry from St. Louis, was a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Donna Pickel of Ponca City, Okla. Other quarterfinalists were Marge Puetz, St. Louis; Suzy Hamilton, Cedar Falls, Iowa; Carole Boshard, St. Louis; Jane Ellingson, Oklahoma City; Judy Mills, Chickasha, and Bev Tolan, St. Louis.

Erika Puetz, St. Louis, seeded No. 1 in the girls division, reached the semifinals defeating Katherine Bond, Chickasha, 6-0, 6-0 and Lynda Leva of Lawton, 6-1, 6-0.

Clinton Ladies Guests of C.C. In Golf Match

A group of 13 of Clinton's lady golfers were guests of the Sedalia Country Club women at the Country Club Monday, and competed with the Sedalians for blind honors prizes and separate team honors.

Sixteen of Sedalia's top lady golfers competed for medalist honors for Sedalia as Mrs. Eugene Helman led the Sedalia scoring for top honors with a 9-hole score of 44. Clinton's Miss Dora Ellis scored a 51 for Clinton medalist honors.

The prizes awarded on the bogey hole, which was selected as the second hole, went to Mrs. M. C. Johnson for Sedalia, and to Miss Frances Watkins of Clinton.

The Sedalians will journey to Clinton to play on July 22.

Stock Cars At Marshall Speedway

Thursday night's program of stock car racing at Sportsman's Speedway, Marshall, is expected to draw the biggest field of cars ever to appear at the high-banked quarter-mile oval.

The Midseason Championship race, fifty laps in duration, which will climax the regular program, has attracted the interest of drivers from most of the western half of Missouri.

Top favorite, of course, will be Junior Hower, who has seemingly laid claim to the Sportsman's course, with a record of three straight wins, and four main events out of the last five. Scotty Scovill, pilot of the checkerboard special, will also be gunning for top position in the big test. Scovill has won two features at Marshall, and with Jud Larson, is the only driver to defeat Hower at the track.

Much interest is centered on Torch Aleshire, Moberly pilot, who led last week's feature for two laps, and was pulling away from Hower when the carrot-topped lead-foot ran out of race track on the west turn.

Some fans are predicting a better finish for Chet Dooley, Marshall driver of the No. 68 Chevrolet, who has been doing magnificently away from home, but cannot seem to hit his stride before a local audience. A longer feature is expected to give Dooley a break, since his steady driving style is the kind that wears down other pilots.

A new car from Kansas City has also been entered, and will be driven by Joe Walters, who made a hit with Marshall fans in his previous appearances. The car is a duplicate of the one in which Bill Brophy won the 1953 MWSCRA championship, and many railbirds rate Walters as a slightly better pilot than Brophy. Other top ranking drivers who have indicated they will be on hand include John Bowman, currently at even with Aleshire as the track's hardluck pilot, Pistol Gunn, last week's second spot finisher, John Pitt, lanky pilot of the No. 38 Annex Special, Gene Johnson, Harold Cromley, Orval Surlis, K. C. Woods and Bobby Dyche.

Preliminary races for the big affair will start at 8:30, with time trials preceding. Prices will not be increased for the pre-holiday attraction, it was announced.

Enjoy it every day — millions do.

Little League Lions, Adco Win Tuesday

American League Standings

Team	W	L
Optimists	6	3
Adco	5	3
Lions	3	5
Dem - Cap	2	6

Tuesday night at the Little League Stadium, the high-riding Optimists met defeat from the Lions 14-15 and the Democrat-Capital was edged by Adco 9-7.

The first contest saw Willie of the Lions taking over the mound duties for Daley in the last of the first and going the remainder of the game to take the win.

The Optimists scored early in the first inning with the first four men in the lineup crossing the plate. With the exception of one run in the second, the Optimist team was held without scoring until the fourth and fifth innings.

The Lions were held to two lone runs in the first three innings but the entire lineup broke loose as everybody on the team scored sometime during the fifth and sixth. During the wild scoring, Berlin and Arnett had doubles and Hanigan and Cairns tripled.

The second game found the Adco scoring five runs in the third inning and keeping the Democrat-Capital from scoring to take a 9-7 victory. Whittaker went the entire route to take the win for the Adco. The Adco team seemed to have the right punch with the runs when needed and this was probably the decisive reason for their win.

Democrat-Capital scored early in the game with five runs in the first and second innings. They did not score any more until the fourth, when they sent in two more. DeJarnett, the starting hurler for the Newsboys, was credited with the loss. Winters, the reliever for the Dem-Cap, held the opposition to two runs after entering the game. Dow had a double for the winners in the top of the third.

Babe Ruth League To Play Friday

At a Babe Ruth League meeting Tuesday night, a rule governing the length of one-sided games was passed. From now on, games will be halted at the end of five innings if one team is ahead by seven runs. Under the old rule, 3 games were stopped after four innings.

Due to the semi-pro tournament, which is to start July 23, the Babe Ruth League will give up its July 23-30 games. These games have now been scheduled for July 10-17. Plans are being made for single exhibition games to be played prior to the tournament.

Elmer Dillard has announced that Taystee Bread will defeat Brown's Supply Co. Friday night if Dillard's boys succeed, and if Phillips 66 can win over Western Auto, the first half will end in a tie between Brown's and Phillips 66. However, a win for Browns over Taystee would give them a first half win, regardless of the score of the other game. In any event, Friday evening should provide plenty of excitement.

Industrial Loop DeMolays, Trinity Win Softball Tilts

In the opener of the Sedalia Industrial Softball League, the DeMolays defeated T and O Lime 14 to 3 in a one-sided tilt. In the second game an array of runs was made by the two teams competing, with Trinity Lutheran coming out on top with a 14-11 win over National Engineering and Manufacturing Co.

Sanders, Pummill and Benson hit home runs to help the DeMolay team pile up their stack of wins. In the sixth the T and O aggregation started off with what was hoped to be a rally but the well experienced Sanders got out of the inning by allowing but a lone run.

Trinity Lutheran in their game with National Engineering pulled it out of the fire in the fourth inning with a five-run rally only to fall behind in the bottom of the fourth. Then scoring in the fifth and sixth iced down the necessary winning runs.

National Engineering went into a first-inning lead by scoring three runs, added two in the second, while Trinity Lutheran tallied one in the second and third, then five in the fourth. The Engineering team rallied with six in the bottom of the fourth to take back the lead. In the fifth the Lutherans tied it up with four runs and went ahead with three in the sixth.

Richardson was the leading hitter for Trinity Lutheran with two hits, scoring twice. Don Streeter and Delph both hit circuit drives for the Engineers.

The scores:

DeMolays.....120 500 6-12 12 0
T-O Lime.....001 011 0-3 6 0

Second Game

Second of a Series—Mays Proves to Be One of Most Aggressive of New York Giants

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Leo Durocher was driving home from the Polo Grounds after a particularly exhausting doubleheader one afternoon a couple of summers ago. In a Harlem street, he nearly ran over a sport-shirted figure dashing madly for a manhole cover which marked second base in a street game.

"Hey, you numbskull," the manager of the New York Giants shouted. Suddenly a look of recognition came to Leo's face and he screamed his car to a stop.

"What's the matter? You nuts or something?" Leo bellowed. Willie Mays looked puzzled.

"Why am I nuts?" he asked blandly. "It ain't dark yet."

"That's Willie," explained Durocher. "If it's still daylight, a man should be playing ball. He used to do that a lot until we put a stop to it. After he'd leave the Polo Grounds, he'd get a bunch of kids together and start a game of stickball in the streets."

Durocher never tires talking about Mays.

"I've got a son named Chris," Leo said. "He's eight years old. For months he's been bothering me to get him a pair of spikes. I finally gave in and bought them. The next day, he woke me up at 6 a. m. 'Come to the ball park Daddy,' he said, 'I want to put on my spikes.'"

"You think Willie is older than my son? Willie rooms with Monte Irvin. At 6 a. m. every morning he's nudging Monte. 'Wake up, roomie,' he says, 'let's talk baseball.'"

Home Folks!
CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark, former Supreme United Nations commander in the Far East, was made to feel perfectly at home soon after assuming the presidency of The Citadel here.

On a stroll about the city, he passed a store and the shopkeeper called out: "Hello, General, how are you getting along?"

"Fine, thank you," Clark replied.

"Just wanted you to know," the shopkeeper said, "that your wife was in here a few minutes ago and bought you a pair of shorts. If they don't fit, just bring them back."

"That," Clark said later, "convinced me that we had arrived." Mrs. Clark added that "That's never happened to us before."

Group Started To Protect Toll Free State Roads

JEFFERSON CITY — A new association, founded to promote Missouri's toll free public highway system, was organized here last week. The organization is called the Public Roads Association of Missouri.

"The group represents associations, businesses, communities, and individuals who believe reckless action for a Missouri toll road network would endanger our pres-the day was 80 million gallons.

"People may not realize it," said Weir, "but this year's drought is even worse than last year's. Weather bureau records show that rainfall here has been only 60 per cent normal so far this year—the worst drought on record."

"One good rain hereabouts would lick the problem for us this summer, in my opinion."

ent toll free highway program," E. A. "Dot" Gould, North Kansas City, the newly elected president, said.

"We are 100 per cent for an adequate and sound toll free public road and bridge program for all the people," Gould stated. "Therefore, we intend to oppose all moves that will endanger our present highway program or that will use our highway needs as an excuse for creating a new source of easy profit for a few at the expense of many."

Price Combs, Price Oil Co., Independence, was elected vice-president of the new association; Kenneth Hurt, The Union State Bank, Clinton, secretary-treasurer; James Hassler, Rural Letter Carriers Association, Monticomey City; Perry Ennis, Rock Village Court, Springfield, and Eugene Fryhoff, Skyhaven Motel, Warrensburg, were elected to the executive committee.

Directors will be elected from every county in the state.

Rain Makers—II—

Day of Prayer Offered to Get Rain Instead of Rain Makers

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The debate over whether to renew a contract with a rain-making firm was getting hotter and hotter at a meeting of officials in San Diego County, Calif.

Mayor Lloyd Harmond of Coronado threw in this comment: "A day of prayer would be more effective and would save taxpayers money."

His honor later qualified the remark to some extent, but it underscores the mixed reactions turned up in an informal Associated Press survey of rain makers and rain making.

Commercial cloud-seeding firms have been in operation since shortly after Dr. Vincent Schaefer succeeded in producing man-made snow in a laboratory experiment at Schenectady, N. Y., in 1946. Some of the firms are manned by top-flight scientists. They have been hired by local communities, farmers' organizations, public utilities and others. The firms generally claim they're able to produce—through seeding clouds with dry ice or silver iodide—increases in precipitation up to 50 per cent above what might normally be expected. One of them claims a more than 300 per cent increase during a job in Dallas, Tex.

The AP survey shows the reactions of clients vary. Most are simply undecided as to whether they got their money's worth, but of these some still are stringing along. In other instances rain-making firms have been rehired for several seasons.

Property owners who suffered damage from excess rainfall insist upon taking the rain makers' claims at face value. Suits totaling two million dollars have been brought against cloud seeders by some residents of New York state who claim they were hurt by too much rain. Three damage suits are pending against a prominent Western cloud seeder as the result of a flood in El Reno, Okla., in 1953.

On the bouquet side for the rain makers, the survey turned up such remarks as this one by President A. S. Cummins of the California Oregon Power Co., the first power company in the nation to launch an organized long-term plan of cloud seeding in hope of raising water levels in its reservoirs: "We have had three good years. We think we've seen definite results. We can't prove it statistically, but we're satisfied. We expect to continue the experiment for another two years."

In the Sacramento area of California the number of farm groups sponsoring rain-making ventures has dropped from eight to four since 1951. But all three major power companies in the area are continuing full-scale rain-making efforts.

In several Wyoming counties drives are under way to raise funds for cloud-seeding projects. So far the farmers don't appear to be so interested as in past years.

Arizona farmers have spent several hundred thousand dollars on such projects in the past but can't make up their minds whether benefits resulted.

In New Mexico there was great enthusiasm several years ago, but no projects are under way now. Ranchers and farmers say they think rain making might work but that they see no immediate hopes.

Farmers in Yakima and other counties of Washington, organized as the Horse Heaven Water Development Corp., have given a commercial cloud seeder a new contract lasting until June 1958. Rain-making ventures have been under way every year since 1950 in Horse Heaven. A spokesman for the group told The Associated Press: "Statistically, I presume, it would be impossible to prove the success or failure of the operation at this time. However, we have had four good crops in a row, and the farmers in the territory seem to be satisfied."

One commercial operator, William J. Hartnett, president of the Weather Corp. of America, St. Louis, says he believes cloud seeding "has been overrated for farm purposes."

But he contends that utility companies, through increased water levels in reservoirs, can increase kilowatt hours without building new plants.

Dr. Irving P. Krick of the Water Resources Development Corp., of Denver—easily one of the world's busiest cloud seeders—says that since 1950 he has conducted more than 150 projects in the United States and six foreign countries. Areas of operations have ranged in size from 500 to 32,000 square miles.

He says expectable increases in rainfall vary with the operational season and the geographical area (in general, the colder the clouds, the more rain which can be made by dry ice or silver iodide seeding). He says his firm has achieved rain increases ranging from 20 per cent in the southern United States, Mexico and Central America in the springtime to between 70 and 80 per cent in mountain snow operations in the United States in the wintertime.

Among a group of five of Krick's clients contacted by The Associated Press, three indicated faith in the techniques, another said there was "convincing evidence of some benefits," and the fifth said "no clear-cut evaluation was possible."

The city of Dallas, Tex., accepts Krick's claim that he and his associates increased the water in the Dallas watershed by 363 per cent in 1952-53.

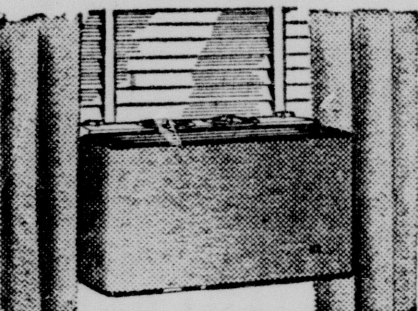

North American Weather Consultants of Altadena, Calif., report about 30 commercial jobs since 1950, involving areas of about 4,100 square miles each. Average rainfall increase claimed: 38½ per cent.

On the East Coast, Wallace Howell Associates of Cambridge, Mass., reports "we feel we have succeeded" in increasing rainfall on a number of jobs in the United States, Canada, Peru and Cuba. Tomorrow: Government activity.
